

duration is waiting

Musik: Alexander Pittwohn Text: Alexander Pittwohn looking for a place to stay, there's nowhere you can hide I pack my things and ride away 'till I find a place to lie when I think about that night and day I always dream that love will stay suddenly I realize that hatred makes the rules brutality for gentleness, you give your smile in vain

when I think about that night and day
I always dream that love will stay

I have to learn to cool myself to keep my peace of mind when I start hating without reason I'd loose my loving kind
when I think about that night and day
I always dream that love will stay

I wanna know what it's all about
I wanna know what it's all about moon and stars .....why the sun goes down see that man working all day long

see that man working all day long does he know what he's fighting for

I wanna know what it's all about
I wanna know what it's all about
moon and stars .....why the sun goes down why can't we live in peace together beneath the sky men could love each other throwing bombs will make us loose our way
